What To Do In Fairbanks, Alaska

Northern Lights and Arctic Circle Tour

Experience Alaska like you have never seen it before while enjoying a comfortable drive and narration from your expert guide. Travel along the famous and rugged Dalton Highway (well-known from the TV show Ice Road Truckers) to the Arctic Circle, where the summer nights are white and the winter dark. With exceptional guides, comfortable transportation and personalized service, you will have a once-in-a-lifetime experience. The travel itinerary is flexible to ensure guests can take advantage of unique photo opportunities. Please note that seeing the Northern Lights is not guaranteed.

Riverboat & Gold Panning with Lunch

This is more than just a boat ride. Board the Sternwheeler Riverboat Discovery for one of the most unique Alaskan experiences available. Your three-hour tour will take you into the heart of Alaska and a family who has made the rivers of Alaska their way of life for five generations. Trading posts in the early days of Western contact were popular with people in Alaskan Villages, and that tradition continues with the Discovery Trading Post (on-board Discovery III) and Steamboat Landing (onshore). See an Alaskan bush pilot takeoff and land right next to the boat!

The Fountainhead Antique Auto Museum

Fairbanks entrepreneur Tim Cerny began collecting the museum's 85-plus vehicles in 2007, carefully selecting each one for their historical significance, technological innovations, or rarity. The cars exemplify some of the most fascinating developments in U.S. automotive history prior to World War II. Only at Fountainhead Antique Auto Museum will you find a Compound, Argonne, Argo Limousine, Columbia Mark XIX, McFarlan Type 125, Sheldon, Heine-Velox Victoria automobile, or Hay Motor Vehicle. The latter three being the only ones of their kind built. Several of Alaska's earliest cars are also on display, including the Territory's very first automobile - built in 1905 by a man who had never seen a car before!

Museum of the North – UAMN

The University of Alaska Museum of the North is a thriving visitor attraction, a vital component of the University of Alaska Fairbanks, and the only research and teaching museum in Alaska. The museum's research collections – 1.5 + million artifacts and specimens – represent millions of years of biological diversity and thousands of years of cultural traditions in the North. The collections are organized into 10 disciplines (archaeology, birds, documentary film, earth sciences, ethnology/history, fine arts, fishes/marine invertebrates, insects, mammals, and plants) and serve as a valuable resource for research on climate change, genetics, contaminants and other issues facing Alaska and the circumpolar North. The museum is also the premier repository for artifacts and specimens collected on public lands in Alaska and a leader in northern natural and cultural history research.
